Description

Offering a wonderful blend of contemporary design and everyday comfort, this residence in the tranquil Parekkklisia area features 147 m2 of generous internal space.

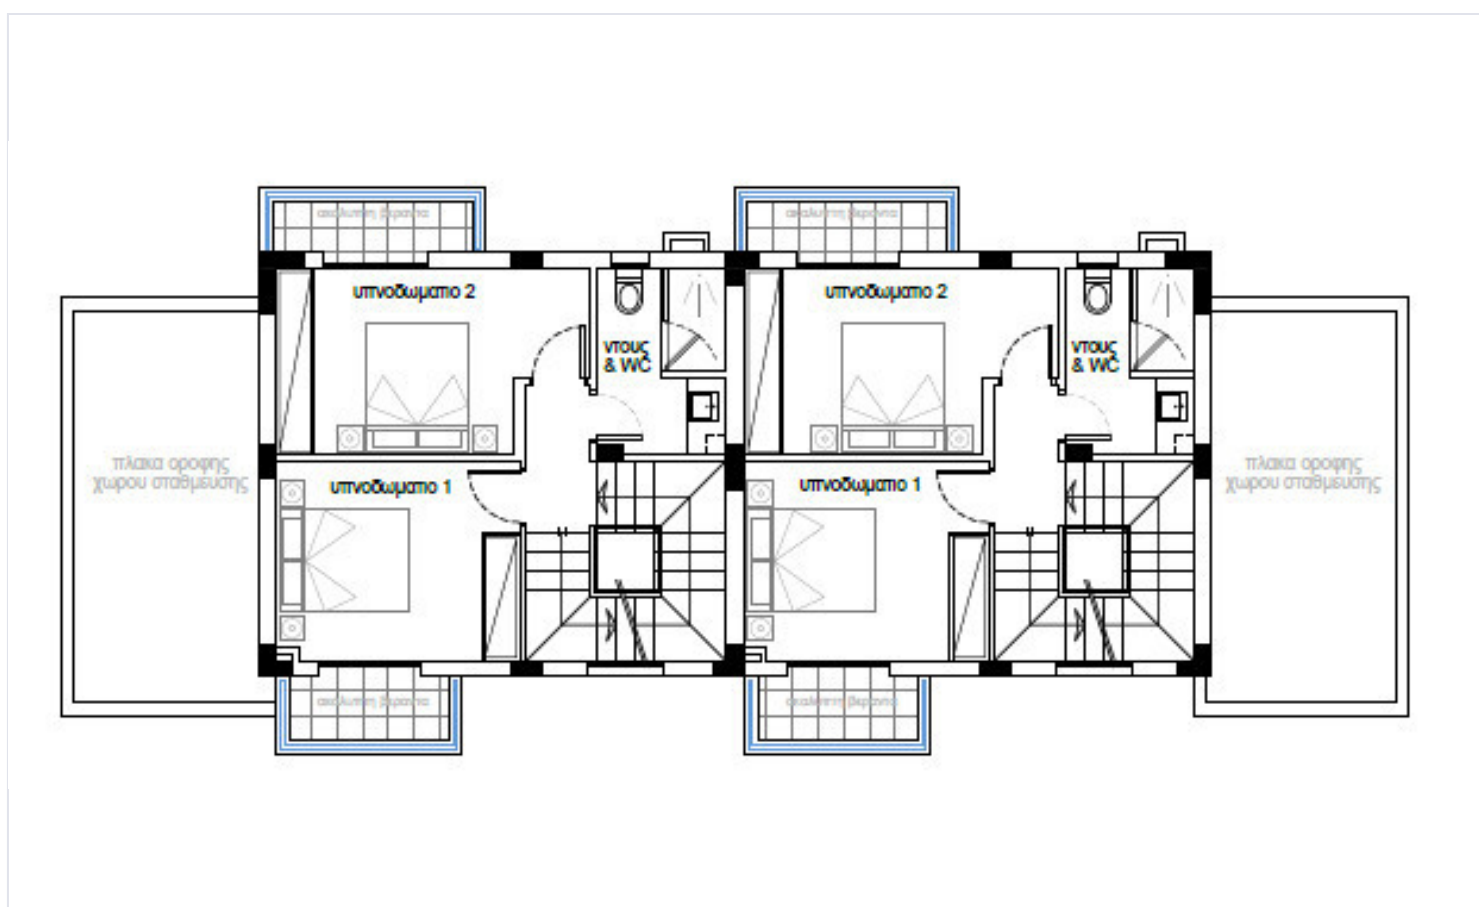

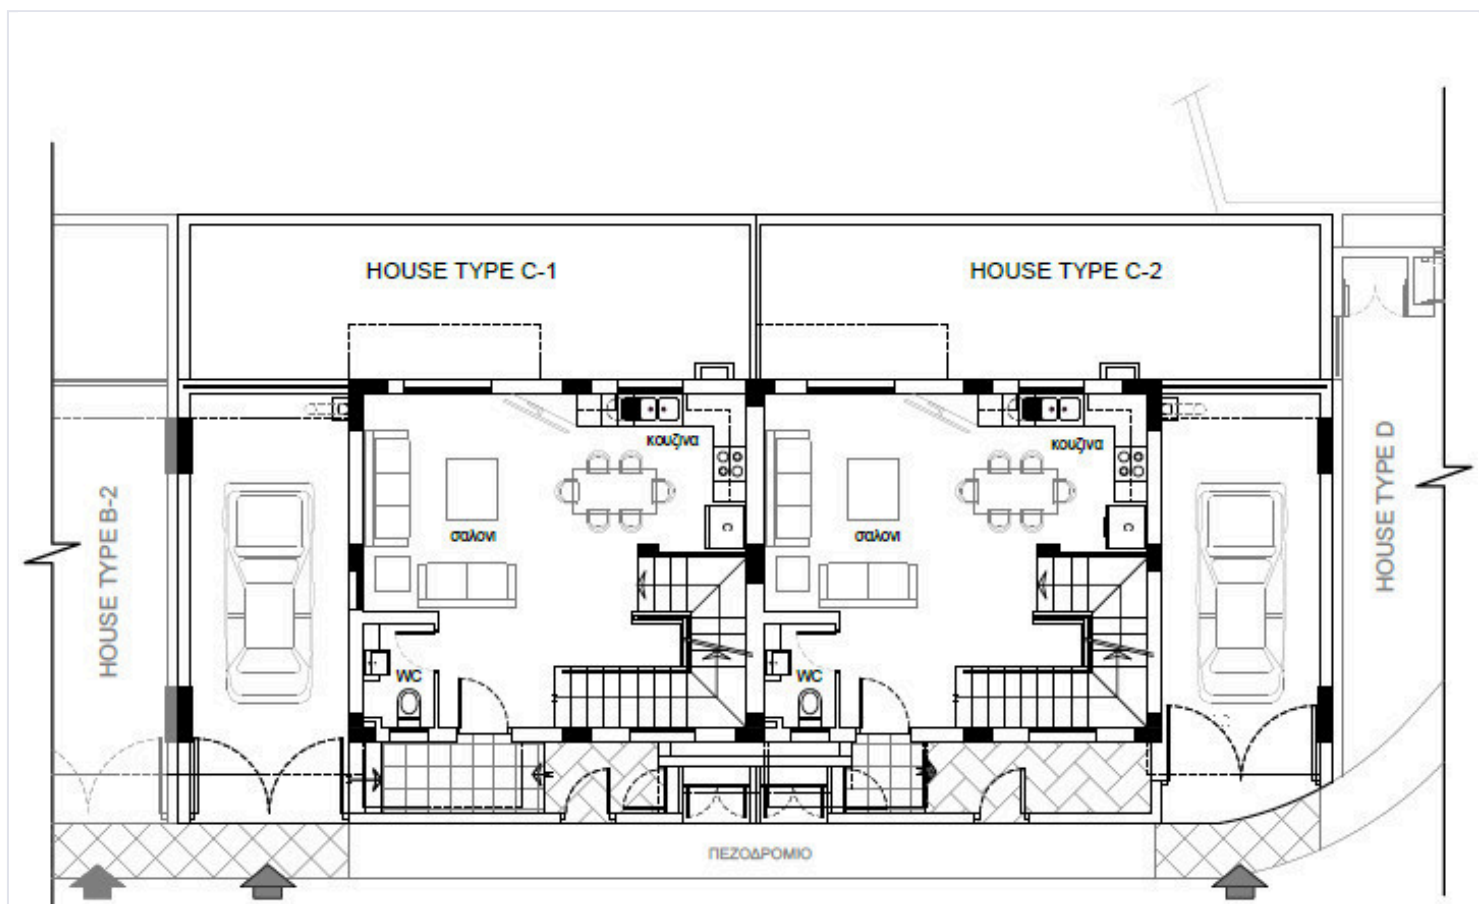

The main living space welcomes you at the middle level, where cooking, gathering, and unwinding come naturally. Two calm bedrooms rise above, tucked just enough away to feel restful, with soft light and mountain air touching every window.

But it's below where the home truly opens up: a flexible garden level with a third bedroom and a wide, open space that leads to the most generous veranda in the house, offering the quiet independence of a self-contained haven. With private parking, a layered layout, and space that lives larger than it seems, this villa is layered, thoughtful, and complete.
